

The heatmap displays the distribution of 10 unlabeled categories across the days of the week. The categories are represented by different colors: dark blue, light blue, yellow, orange, red, green, purple, brown, grey, and black. The distribution shows various patterns of high and low values across the days.

